Dear Parents and Friends,

The Awards Night last week was a wonderful event. There is so much talent in our student group in all areas that goes unnoticed for much of the year so it is fabulous to see it acknowledged on this key night in our school year. I was very happy to see so many people there on the night as well. Such an evening is great to share with the wider community and that is always a very positive time.

As I said on Awards Night our school performance continues to develop in all areas and that is really good for us all to reflect upon.

In this time of change as we develop our college setup, it would be very easy to forget the issues about school performance but we need to maintain the school focus at all times to ensure the best outcomes for our students. The other aspect that I want to highlight from the Awards Night is our performing arts area. This has always been incredibly strong but I think that Awards Night highlighted this once again for our whole college. I write this piece before our Sports Awards night and I know that this evening will be an equally significant event for our college as we have that big celebration – leading to great excitement for me.

I am very excited to see the new uniform that will be introduced next year. There will be a phasing in period over the next few years but I think the new uniform is very important for our college. It really emphasises the links between the various years Prep to Year 12 and that linkage will be seen in the clear manner. I really like the fact that the new uniform has acknowledged our history in terms of colours from our two previous schools while moving forward at the same time. That type of approach is very important for us all to see.

These links will be even more evident as we progress as a college and they will be a key to our success in the years to come.

If you have any questions at any time, please feel free to call me on 5450 4122 or email me on wtroy1@eq.edu.au.

Dear students, parents and friends

As the end of year approaches, we are now looking to farewell our fantastic group of Year 12s as they take their first steps into the big wide world. As we do, I would like to wish them all the very best for the future. They have been a terrific group of young people and I am very confident that they will go on to be successful in their own right and contribute much to the community. Good luck Year 12s!

Our new School Captains are now preparing to step into the shoes of our current School Captains. I am very confident that Hamilton, Samantha, Jorja and Jake will do a sensational job and will continue the fine work of Kiera, Jacob, Emelie and Bonnie. Well done and thank you to our 2016 Captains and School Leaders and good luck to our 2017 Captains and School Leaders. I would also like to acknowledge the great work of Julie Phelan and Adam Cuthbert-Dennis who have prepared our leaders so well.

Our Awards Night was conducted last week and I wish to thank again the many staff and students who contributed to make the night a success. I would also like to thank again the many local businesses, organisations and individuals who contributed their time and money so generously to support our College. Finally, I would again like to congratulate the many awardees with whom we celebrated.

As we head towards the end of the year I would like to remind everyone that learning is our business right up to the last day at school - students will be participating in learning right to the end in preparation for next year. Attendance remains important!!

Attendance

The Senior Campus attendance for this Semester currently stands at 88.83% as compared with 88.8% for Semester 1. Term 4 attendance has been an improvement on Term 3.

How can I help my child succeed at school?

Reading is a key skill in all aspects of life and across all subjects at school. Encouraging and supporting our children to read at home is a powerful way to build their reading skills and to complement and support the work of teachers at school.

Does it matter what they read? Not really, as long as they are reading. Like any skill, the way to get better is to practise, practise and practise!

On top of this, reading is fun!!

FROM THE HEAD OF JUNIOR CAMPUS

From the Principal Junior Campus

Congratulations to those students who were presented with awards at the 2016 Nambour State College Academic Awards presentation last week. It was lovely to see the excitement on the student’s faces as they anticipated the recipients of the awards and to witness the pride emanating from both the students and their families. Our school community is extremely proud of our students and their drive to excel in their education. Well done!

Remaining focused

The end of the school year is always a very busy and exciting time for the children for a variety of reasons, but it is fantastic to see the children remaining focused in class and working toward achieving their learning goals and completing assessment pieces to the very best of their ability.

It is important that the children remain engaged in the last few weeks of school and parents are encouraged to ensure that their children are attending school on time, and prepared to actively participate in class lessons. With report cards being written and finalised by the class teachers I am really looking forward to seeing the level of improvement from each child based on these reports.

Year 6 Graduation Ceremony

The Year 6 Graduation Ceremony is fast approaching! This very special event will be held on Thursday 8 December commencing at 9am. It will be a great opportunity to recognise all the great work and results that our students have achieved in their time at Nambour State College Junior Campus. Students are reminded to wear full school uniform.

Student Assessment

A reminder that for the next few weeks all classes will be involved in testing for Semester 2 reporting. Therefore, it is extremely important that children attend school and arrive on time for class. Assessment results are used to assist in the formation of classes for 2017, and as such it is imperative that all children be in attendance during this period.

2017 Class Formations

The school administration will shortly be sitting down with our teachers to organise classes for 2017. These meetings are designed to ensure that each child is placed in a class which has a balance of gender, academic ability, behavioural and friendship/interest groups. Special consideration is also given to those students requiring learning support and those students identified with a disability. To assist in this process, parents may request a particular educational setting and any other relevant information for their child. Please note parents may not put in a preference for a particular teacher.

This year request forms are available from the office for completion only. Whilst your input is important to us it is essential to remember that decisions are made in the best interests of the child and that no guarantees can be made when allocating students to classes for next year. Forms must be returned to the school administration by Friday 18 November. Unfortunately, late returns will not be considered.

Parents of children who may be leaving the school community in 2016/2017 are also requested to inform the office so that we are not allocating students to classes who will not be with us next year. If you are in this situation could you please let our Administration Staff know.

Prep 2017

To date we have over 40 students enrolled for Prep for next year and I know there are others who are yet to enrol. Parents/Carers are advised that PREP IS COMPULSORY FROM 2017 for all Queensland children, prior to commencing Year 1. Since Prep started in 2007, there have been noticeable improvements to learning outcomes for children who participate in Prep. Making Prep compulsory ensures all children develop the knowledge and skills provided by the Prep Year that form the foundation for future learning. For more information, refer to the ‘Enrolling your Child’ page on the Education Queensland website. Nambour State College is not an enrolment managed or catchment school and as such, enrolments are welcome from those residing outside Nambour.

Enrolments 2017

To help manage and plan for the future we are asking our families for their support by keeping us informed if you are planning on changing schools in 2017 or letting relatives, neighbours and friends know that we have available spaces across all year levels. Nambour State College is not an enrolment management or catchment school, and as such, we welcome enrolments from Nambour and our across our neighbouring suburbs to our great College. For enrolment enquiries, please contact our friendly administrative staff.

Student Dress Code

A reminder to all parents that children are not permitted to wear jewellery to school. Jewellery including anklets, necklaces and bracelets are not to be worn as part of the school uniform. Earrings may be worn but need to be sleepers or simple studs.

This policy is supported by the school’s Parents and Citizens Association and is part of the school’s Responsible Behaviour Plan for Students. It would be greatly appreciated if all parents can ensure that their child attends school keeping our dress code expectations in mind at all times.

Canberra Camp 2017

Parents/Carers of students in Year 5 are reminded that the initial non-refundable deposit of $150.00 is due no later than Friday 18 November 2016.
Student Celebrations

We have amazing children in our school achieving in their chosen interests at high levels. If your child has achieved something wonderful outside school please let us know either through the office, your child’s teacher or email info@namboursc.eq.edu.au

We love to hear about what our children are doing!

2016 GRADUATION AND FORMAL

Year 12 students are getting very excited as these two events are fast approaching. Dresses and suits are being bought, appointments made for hair and make-up and transport organised.

There has been lots of information given to students and emailed to parents regarding both events – so check those emails so you are up to date with all the latest.

Looking forward to a great end of the year for our 2016 Year 12 students.
Students have 24/7 digital access to learning materials so that they can learn where and when they want (every subject has an online “virtual classroom”).

“Every student has access to an individual learning device that connects them to these learning materials” (School and student owned devices).

“College is a learning hub that provides students with open connections to other educational providers” (College is a learning hub).

In 2017 Nambour State College will offer 3 options for access to computers in the senior campus (7-12):

THE PAY IT FORWARD CAMPAIGN – ARE YOU WILLING TO BE INVOLVED?

Proudly Supporting: IFYS, The Shack and the Lions Emergency Accommodation Centre.

Our Grade 10 English Com class is studying a unit that looks at “pay it forward” and looking for ways we can help those in need in the local community. We are helping fundraise for The Shack, The Lions Emergency Accommodation Centre and IFYS.

These shelters provide valuable support for those who are not as fortunate as us. It is essential that these homeless people and families have something to look forward to, particularly at Christmas.

Unfortunately, though this Christmas we will see 20,000 people homeless in Queensland, 3,000 of these people are on the Sunshine Coast. These people desperately need your assistance and through being part of the “pay it forward” campaign, we believe that we can make a difference to the local community and hope that this little idea can help change the world through paying this forward. Are you willing to take the challenge?

It is our class goal is to provide 5 Christmas hampers to support these local charities. “Pay it Forward” is seeking donations of - blankets, clothes, toiletries, hand towels, washers, toys, non-perishable foods and Christmas themed items. Through this we can assist in making a small contribution that hopefully will allow something special to happen for those less fortunate than ourselves.

We would love if you could help be involved in our “pay it forward” project.

Every donation would be greatly appreciated and we will have boxes, that the public can place their donations in, available at Student Administration - A12 and in the Main Office foyer.

Thank you for helping us “pay kindness forward”.

SCHOOLIES

Information for Parents and Guardians

What support will be available for teenagers during Schoolies?

The Qld Government does not promote participation in Schoolies but seeks to enhance the safety and responsible behaviour of school-leavers at Safer Schoolies locations and to minimise disruption to local communities. As part of the Safer Schoolies Initiative, a range of safety and support services is provided at the key Schoolies destinations in Qld.

Each Safer Schoolies location has its own access requirements, but all require proof of student photo ID to take advantage of the free activities and support services available. Visit Access and Identification for more information.

Police, emergency services, security, volunteers and officials will maintain a highly visible presence, providing schoolies with medical assistance, general support and advice.

Safety initiatives include wristbands or photo ID for identification, street patrols, walk-home services, schoolies-only areas, free water and medical assistance. The Red Frogs Australia Chaplaincy Network also provides support to schoolies in accommodation venues.

Volunteers play a vital role in helping to keep school leavers safe. All volunteers have a Blue Card, agree to a code of conduct and receive training.

Providing alcohol to under age children where there is no responsible supervision is not only dangerous, it is illegal. Penalties are high. If you get caught providing alcohol to your underage child for consumption in an unsupervised environment you will face penalties of up to $9752.

PARENTS ARE ENCOURAGED TO COMPLETE THIS SCHOOLIES CHECKLIST

- For all the official information regarding Schoolies visit the link below, or follow Schoolies Info for Parents on Facebook, http://www.schoolies.qld.gov.au/
- Encourage your teen to follow Schoolies on Facebook for information on safety, diversionary activities and support services available during Schoolies
- Talk to your teenager about your expectations and their expectations of Schoolies
- Have an honest conversation about drinking, drugs, peer pressure and risk taking behaviour
- If your child has a medical condition, or takes medication, make sure they are able to manage it, and understand how alcohol may affect their medication
- If your teen is staying in accommodation, make sure that they have read through the accommodation House Rules and clearly understand what they have agreed to
- Make sure your child knows to call Triple Zero (000) in an emergency. There are also two secondary emergency call service numbers—112 and 106. 112 is available from all GSM or GSM derived mobile phones. 106 connects to the text-based relay service for people who have a hearing or speech impairment. All calls to the emergency numbers, whether from fixed, mobile, pay phones or VoIP services are free-of-charge

ONE WEEK BEFORE SCHOOLIES

- Acknowledge what a huge transition it is for both of you
- Make sure your teen is aware of what support is available
- Encourage your teen to download the Emergency+ App to identify their location and to seek assistance in emergency situations
- Check to see how social relationships are going within the group
- Make agreements regarding contact during Schoolies
- Have a talk about sleep, hydration, nutrition and stress
- Touch base with the other parents and exchange contacts
- Suggest some low cost outings they might like to do as a group
- Encourage your teen to download the Police link App to report any non-urgent crimes or incidents during Schoolies e.g. wilful property damage, lost property, high risk behaviour
- Let them know you trust them and will be available to them at any time
- Talk one last time about the physical and psychological risks that substances can lead to (aggression, assault, unplanned sexual activity, accidental, poor judgment, etc)

DURING SCHOOLIES

- Reiterate that you are contactable at any time, day or night
- Take some time to acknowledge your own transition from school parent to Schoolies parent and beyond

IF YOU ARE CONTACTED ABOUT AN INCIDENT

- Please try to stay calm
- Listen to the facts and support your child appropriately
- If you are requested to come to the Schoolies precinct, please do so

AT THE END OF SCHOOLIES

- Remind your teenager to check their digs for cleanliness and damage prior to check out
- Talk to your teenager to see how they feel after they get home
- If you have more children yet to go through Schoolies, consider what you may have had in place and make a note of anything you may do differently next time

HELPING YOUR CHILD TO MANAGE ANGER

Anger is a result of not being able to cope with the feelings of stress, disappointment, frustration or loss. There are many ways of expressing anger, some of which are un-helpful or unsafe.

Part of the process of growing up is learning that we cannot have everything that we want, that we may not always be successful, and that life is sometimes unfair. We learn to accept that there are some things we cannot change, that sometimes we have to accept or put up with things, and we also learn to be assertive and not aggressive.

As adults we have learnt how to control anger and to express it in useful ways. We may even use our angry feelings to enable us to bring about positive changes in our lives and the lives of others.

These lessons are not easy to learn, and sometimes we need a lot of help.

Anger and young children

Very young children may express their anger and frustration by throwing tantrums, often in places where they are going to create maximum effect and embarrassment to their parent or carer.

It is really important that you learn how to deal with your child’s feelings of anger effectively while your child is young. Coping with a 2-year-old is a lot easier than trying to restrain an older child who is unable to control her feelings and who resorts to physical actions such as hitting or kicking.

What is causing the feelings?

If your child is expressing anger, look first at what is causing the feelings.

- Is your child unwell, hungry or overtired?
- Is your child unsettled by changes in the family - like a new baby, moving house or splits in the family?
- Are they getting enough 'good' attention? Do you make positive comments for good behaviour and small improvements?
- Wanting to do something that they are too young or physically unable to do?
- Are you wanting them to behave better than they can because they are not yet old enough?
- Do you explain why you say "no" to a request?
- Do you stick by your decisions or do you allow yourself to 'give-in' to constant whining and nagging?

Outline the rules

Let your child know quietly but firmly that there are rules for dealing with anger – i.e. everyone gets angry at times, but that we all have to learn to be the boss of anger, and not let anger be the boss of us.

Teach your child that we can all learn to work through the anger and keep ourselves and others safe by:

- Taking a deep breath and breathing out hard

• counting to ten slowly in the mind before saying anything - keep breathing and counting while you think about what to say or do
• waiting until we feel in control and can speak in a quiet voice
• saying what we feel quietly, not shouting
• walking away (not running) until we feel calm enough to think what to do
• being careful not to say hurtful things, which we may regret later
• never hitting out to hurt others or ourselves
• finding safe ways to release anger, such as screaming into a pillow, running round the garden or some other safe place, squeezing a ball or a cushion.

Make sure that when you are angry, you do the same things as you are asking your child to do. Let them know what you are doing by saying your thoughts out loud.

Looking after yourself

Coping with a child who is upset and angry is very tiring. Start as you mean to continue by:

• always insisting on quiet voices when you are talking together
• saying "no" once and explaining why, then ignoring any further discussion by changing the subject
• meaning what you say! - make simple rules for your child to follow, and do what you said you would do (consequences) if they are not followed
• not giving in to whining and whingeing - it is hard at first, but it is not good for yourself or your child if you give up on helping her to manage anger
• using 'time-out' from each other, either by deciding together where a safe place is for your child, e.g. on a particular chair in the family area, or even where is a safe place for yourself to 'time-out' for a while - somewhere your child can see you but knows not to disturb you until you are ready
• trying to use the 'time-out' sign, making a letter T with your hands, to show that you are not going to talk any more about this, rather than shouting or repeating what you have just said
• teaching your child about the values you have in the family, like respect for others and their property, honesty, responsibility and working together to help each other, and praising when these values are shown by the child
• being fair - everyone needs to feel loved and special; sometimes it can be all too easy to 'play favourites', so that an older or more 'difficult' child can feel less loved
• making it quite clear that while you love the child, you do not love angry, aggressive behaviour.

Who can help you to help your child?

Despite all the love, care and attention you can give, some children still have problems dealing with anger. Do not struggle on alone!

Looking for help does not mean that you are a hopeless parent! On the contrary, it means that you are caring enough to realise that your child has difficulties and you want to help them to overcome them. The old saying, ‘You can’t see the wood for the trees,’ is very true. Sometimes we are so involved in struggling through daily life, that we can’t see what is happening.

• Talk to your doctor
• Talk to your child’s teacher and find out how things are going at school. Find out what is working well in your child’s class, and whether your child knows the rules and what she and others have to do. You may be able to use the same things at home.
• Talk to the school Guidance Counsellor if your child is having difficulties controlling anger at school. Doing the same things at home and school can work well, and it’s good for the three of you to work together.
• Talk with whoever is helping your child - talk about when things are working well. Let you child know what you like about what they are doing.
• Look after yourself. You are the adult. It is important that you model dealing with anger by not expressing anger through shouting and hitting.
